

this weekend

Suggestions for the Weekend of July 30, 2010

Family Fun: X Games 16

One of the largest events in the world of extreme sports, X Games 16 takes over downtown LA this weekend. 200 of the world's best athletes will fly and flip through the air in the ultimate action competition; you will never look at a skateboard the same again. ### Wine & Dine: Grill 'Em All Food Truck

Heavy Metal loving foodies, your time has come; raise your fist, bang your head, and rub your happy tummy – these burgers rock. Topped with fennel sausage gravy, apple wood bacon and maple drizzle, the Molly Hatchet is a delicious hit. www.grillemalltruck.com/

Theatre: Young Frankenstein

Take one doctor with identity issues about his "mad scientist" grandfather, an assistant named Igor and one recently reanimated corpse whose brain belonged to "Abbey Normal", add in some singing and dancing and you have one of the funniest musicals in town. 213.480.3232

Music: REO Speedwagon/Pat Benatar: Love on the Run Tour

Mixing the soft rock ballads of REO Speedwagon with the hard edge sounds of Pat Benatar may seem like an odd combination but so did peanut butter and chocolate at one time. And look at how good that turned out. Hearing is believing, and you will believe. 213.480.3232

New Movies

Opening Friday, July 23:

Book, DVD and Music Releases

Clash of the Titans
Jesse Stone: No Remorse
Batman: Under the Red Hood
Repo Men

Hip, Hot & Happening

Hip, Hot & Happening is our weekly update of what's opening, what's closing and what's ongoing. After being closed for years, "The Shortest Railway in the World," Angels Flight, has reopened. The 109-year-old rail car, a cherished LA landmark, will take you the 298 feet from California Plaza to Hill Street for the old-fashioned price of 25 cents.
